Tony is experienced in the new economy sector. Tony regularly provides clients with guidance on cutting-edge strategies and novel theories of liability. With Tony and his team's research ability and hands-on experience in emerging legal practice, Tony became one of the first leading lawyers in the market to provide legal services for metaverse, web3 and creators of the new social media platform.

Tony has extensive experience in the private equity industry and continues to provide clients with services across the entire industry chain, from fund establishment, fund investment, fund compliance to fund dispute resolution, and legal services such as legal research and internal and external training for fund regulators.

Work Highlights

Tony has served leading international and domestic funds including Citadel, PIMCO, AXA, Deutsche Bank, the $350 billion state-owned enterprise restructuring fund, and the $147.2 billion manufacturing transformation fund.
